One of the most important things you need to survive in Minecraft Hardcore mode is food. Goats are a great source of food, and they are relatively easy to find. In this blog post, I will discuss how to find 100 goats in Minecraft Hardcore mode.

How to Find Goats in Minecraft Hardcore

The first step to finding goats in Minecraft Hardcore mode is to find a mountain biome. Goats are most commonly found in mountain biomes, so this is where you should start your search.

Once you have found a mountain biome, start looking for cliffs and other high places. Goats are often found on cliffs and other high places, so this is where you should focus your search.

When you see a goat, be careful not to scare it away. Goats are very skittish, and they will run away if they feel threatened. To avoid scaring away a goat, approach it slowly and carefully.

Once you have approached a goat, you can start to tame it. To tame a goat, you need to feed it wheat. Wheat can be found in villages or by crafting it from seeds.

Once you have tamed a goat, you can lead it back to your base. Goats can be used to breed, and they can also be used to obtain milk.

Tips for Finding 100 Goats in Minecraft Hardcore

- Start your search in a mountain biome.
- Look for cliffs and other high places.
- Approach goats slowly and carefully.
- Feed goats wheat to tame them.
- Lead tamed goats back to your base.
